

DEEPAWALI CELEBRATIONS

The way we do it is the way our students learn.

Amrapali Institute of Hotel Management celebrates the decorative festival Diwali through the traditional Rangoli, in the presence of the omnipresent Ganpati and Lakshmi ji idols mingled with some newness to develop creativity. The festival was again a presentable set up by the decoration team that engaged students with art in the form of the ten heads of Rawana with their symbolic meaning, the Dhanush Baan (Bow and Arrow) of Shiva and the Gada (mace) of Hanuman ji. The reception, corridor and stairs awaited the Goddess blessings lightened up with electric bulbs and decorated with fresh flowers and the traditional paper cuttings.

May the best of prosperity shower on the students was actually the wish that flew through such an attractive sight.
